

“It was lovely seeing Mr. Hatch again, and our audience definitely fell in love with the guy! Thanks for bringing such a delightful show to Evergreen!”

– David Mann, Performing Arts Manager, Evergreen Theatre

“Congratulations! Somebody Loves You, Mr. Hatch was absolutely delightful. I just loved it...everything!”

– Kathleen Duborg, Theatre Director

“I so enjoyed the magic of Mr. Hatch. It was absolutely entrancing. The performers and design were exquisite!!”

– Deborah Williams, Theatre Director

“Axis Theatre’s production of Somebody Loves You Mr. Hatch is both delightfully brisk and profoundly affecting.”

– Jonathan Sutton, Visual Artist

“Just saw Hatch on Salt Spring. Beautifully done! Wonderful cast and perfect adaptation for your target audience. Kids loved it. Again, thank you for the joyful happy/sad/ happy tale of hope.”

– Roderick Glanville, Artistic Director Kaleidoscope Theatre

“What a very cool puppet and terrific actors. So professional and easy to work with. Axis admin and tech -- so efficient and on-the-mark from day one!”

– Evy & Morrie Warshawski, E & M PRESENTS, Napa Valley

“LOVED the puppet and the puppeteer was incredible -- Mr. Hatch almost came to life :) Kids were enthralled throughout and after when they got to see the puppet up close. I especially liked the fact that the story pulled from the book did not “dumb down,” so kids had to figure out in their brains what was going on.”

– Evy & Morrie Warshawski, E & M PRESENTS, Napa Valley

“I loved the book, but the show really brought it to life.”

– Parent w/ child at Walton Arts Center, Fayetteville, AR

“Our schools and community embraced this project at a level we never expected. The schools treated this as an Intergenerational Service Learning project. Each school partnered with a Senior Living Facility in our community. The students participated in several activities with/for the senior residents - sing-alongs, book reading, games, puzzles, decorating cookies, delivered Valentine’s, making decorations for their doors.”
